SMALL FIGURES, BIG IDEAS

Roy's People's highly collectable installations transform iconic pieces of fine art into witty and distinctive narratives which amuse, delight and inspire. The pseudonym of British artist and fine art photographer Roy Tyson, Roy's People began photographing his miniature world on the streets of London in 2012 before progressing to installations and corporate commissions for brands such as Apple, Ted Baker and The Royal Mint. Since then he has exhibited widely in cities around the world including London, New York, Shanghai, LA, Miami, Paris, and his many collectors include actor Emilia Clarke and comedian Greg Davies.
